

Commissioner Shellome Walters

Shellome is currently a Designated Property Assistant with Washington Real Estate Investment Trust, where she is currently serving on the Community Service Committee. The Company owns and manages Medical, Office and Residential Buildings in DC, MD, and VA. She has an Associates Degree in Business Administration, and is currently pursuing her Bachelors Degree in Business Administration with a minor in Human Resources Management, at the University of Maryland University College. In addition, Shellome is a veteran of the United States Armed forces and is of Jamaican Heritage. She would like to see the Caribbean population play a more vital role here in Frederick, MD.

While serving in the military, she worked with the Army Community Service Committee, and also Military Families Outreach Programs both in the states and abroad. She has also worked with the DC Child and Family Services Agency on different community projects. She teamed up with NEGES Foundation, Inc. a non-profit organization with offices located in the United States and Haiti to get aide to support Léogâne, a coastal town west of Port-au-Prince, Haiti. Since that time, the NEGES Foundation has developed a women's community resource center, which is dedicated to the women of Léogâne. NEGES Foundation also completed a water resource development and sanitation program, small-scale rural enterprise programs, women's leadership training and empowerment, and democracy promotion.

She is very passionate about shining more light on the depression that military spouses face while their husbands are away, and the effect it has on their children. She is also concerned with the teenage pregnancy rate in Frederick County.

Shellome currently resides in Frederick, MD with her husband and 3 year old daughter.
